

There Are No Crises, Only Tough Decisions: An Inspiring Address with an Eye Toward the Future

Jun 24, 2010

Russell Willis Taylor, President and CEO of National Arts Strategies, explored the extraordinary opportunities that arts organizations have today in her keynote address at the joint annual conferences of Chorus America and The League of American Orchestras.

Get inspired by reading this thought-provoking address.

Further enticement to spark your curiosity:

"By the end of this talk I expect that about 25% of you will be angry with me, 30% will agree with me but not like it, and at least 10% of you will be depressed. I will apologize in advance and ask only that the remaining 35% of the audience sees me to safety when I am done."

-Russell Willis Taylor, during her opening remarks