

New think tank aims to address challenges faced by art museums

Aug 23, 2012

The Art Consortium, an international think tank started by Laurie Winters, will be launched this fall. The organization will bring together major thinkers in the art world to develop creative solutions to contemporary issues faced by museums. The Art Consortium's first annual meeting will be held in Vienna on October 22nd-24th, 2012.

To read more about The Art Consortium and its goals, see Art Daily's brief on this exciting new collective:

http://www.artdaily.org/index.asp?int_sec=2&int_new=56984#.UC5Pa46PA21