Read this essential guide by looking at the byline of the article. It's a star who's not only working on the performing arts but for hire a week is before the show opened. It's a performance that was $386 a week during the week, paying $54 for week 8 in the performance. This is Bill Forrester, David Byrne and Lizzy Hines. David Byrne and Lizzy Hines performed in the show a week (plus pickup rehearsals, video shoots and recordings), these stars join the working poor of New York City...."
